

Matt DiCristina

📍 Connecticut
✉ matt@mattlabs.net
🌐 <https://mattlabs.net>

Self taught programmer, systems administrator and self hosting nerd. Experienced in object oriented programming using VCS and CI. Creator of game server plugins used on hundreds of servers. Runs a homelab of enterprise server hardware with high availability Proxmox cluster and Ceph storage. Linux lover and script monkey. Always looking for ways to be more efficient.

Key Skills

- Systems Administration
- Linux
- Java
- Bash, PowerShell, Python Scripting
- Windows, Active Directory, Azure
- HTML, CSS, JavaScript
- Networking
- VCS, CI/CD

Professional Experience

IT Administrator

Municipal Emergency Services, Inc. | December 2020 - Present

- Supported 600+ remote employees with IT solutions via phone and email
- Streamlined user and workstation imaging/setup and management strategies
- Managed a custom, in place migration from on premise Active Directory to Azure Active Directory
- Provided support and configuration of NetSuite ERP system
- Custom PowerShell scripting for Intune app deployment and system configuration

IT Technician

The Taunton Press | May 2015 - August 2019

- Supported 200 employees across campus via in person and remote assistance
- Migrated a legacy PBX phone system to VoIP
- Setup of workstations with WDS and accounts with Active Directory
- Management of workstation software via WSUS and SCCM
- Maintenance of enterprise server equipment both on premise and at co-locations

IT, Web, Media

Integrated Mental Health Services | October 2017 - January 2018

- Scripted tools to scrape Etsy store data for migration to Wix store
- Configured Wix eCommerce site as business landing page
- Managed social media presence and business profiles
- Consulting for IT related projects and technology upgrades

Education

Bachelors in Computer Science

Southern New Hampshire University, Manchester, NH | July 2019 - Present

Interests

Maintaining a home server network (homelab). Home networking and automation with IoT. 3D printing and small electronics. Car enthusiast and car modification/restoration. Gaming. Software engineering and coding.